TRAINING ANNOUNCEMENT

FY12 Health Risk Screening Tool (HRST) Training: One Day Clinical Seminar

The goal of this course is to provide the support team with guidance in identifying a person's health risks that may need further assessment and evaluation as well as determining the need for professional services. Staff training is being provided to address health risks and to provide a foundation for health care management and should not be taken by those that have attended the two day Clinical Seminars within the last three years. This training is now a one day course with a prerequisite to complete and pass the online raters training in order to qualify to attend the One Day Clinical Seminar. Please review the information on page 2 of this announcement for the online rater instructions and additional registration information. The online raters training must be completed by the registration deadline of the corresponding session.

This training is for support coordinators, planning list administrators, nurses and case managers who use the information from the HRST and who must follow up on recommendations from the HRST. The presenter for this training will be Ms. Erin Mathews, BS, DC, a chiropractic physician who has ten years experience with the Health Risk Screening Tool. Training will begin at 9:00am and end at 4:30pm; sign-in begins at 8:30 am.

Upon completion of the course, the participant will:

- Explain the rationale for identifying health risks and the function of assigning a degree of health risk
- Understand the difference between risk screening and health assessment
- State the most important outcomes of identifying health risk
- Score three health histories using the HRST to criterion in five functional categories and 22 rating areas, State the circumstance when an individual consumer should have his/her HRST reviewed.
- Determine when the person requires a review of the HRST by a registered nurse.
- Identify the consumer's evaluation, assessment, service and staff training needs based on individual rating score items.
