

Georgia Department of Behavior Health and Developmental Disabilities
Intellectual/Developmental Disabilities Advisory Council

The Intellectual/Developmental Disabilities Advisory Council for DBHDD held its quarterly meeting in Macon on Wednesday, January 29, 2020.

The role of the IDD Advisory Council is to advise DBHDD on matters relating to the care, services, and supports offered to people with intellectual/developmental disabilities served by the DBHDD.

The IDD Advisory Council is comprised of individuals receiving intellectual/developmental disability services, family members and legal representative of persons with intellectual/developmental disabilities, or self-advocates; individuals representing advocacy organizations focused on intellectual/developmental disabilities; and individuals representing Georgia's public or private providers of intellectual/developmental disability services. Every effort is made to ensure representation from all regions of the state.
